Andharban Trek 2025 | Monsoon Trek

☉ 1 night, 1 day

Overview

Andharban Trek, Jungle Trek - Monsoon Trek From Mumbai

Andharban Trek, by its name, means a dark, dense forest. It is a gradual descend trek, where you are already on height, and you will descend till the end. It is one of the most beautiful treks in Maharashtra and has lots of things to explore. We will be walking on a ridge offering a fantastic view of the Kundalika Valley, Bhira dam, Devkund Waterfall, and the mountain ranges of Tamhini ghat. Evergreen forest covers you with shade in the first half of the trek for 6 to 8 kilometers. The Trek to Andharban further descends in Konkan to reach Bhira village around 4 kilometers. The same valley is the origin of the Kundalika river, famous for its white water Kolad river rafting.

The Andharban trek itinerary is designed considering forest department rules and local population rules. We intend to enjoy the monsoon at one of the wettest places in Maharashtra. Following Trek Leader instruction is compulsory as the weather is most unpredictable at the Andharban forest trail. Wearing proper gear is mandatory for the Andharban jungle trek. It will help you enjoy the Andharban Trail as you can focus on the natural beauty around you.

We offer an Andharban jungle trek from Mumbai; your journey will start from Borivali to Pimpri to Borivali. This will include your forest permits, bus travel, breakfast, lunch, and experienced Andharban trek guides. Andharban trek best time to visit will be during the rainy season to enjoy the waterfalls along the trail.

Andharban Jungle means dark dense forest in Marathi; during the rainy season, this forest comes alive with rivers, streams, waterfalls, and Fog. Andharban Forest is the most famous rainy season trek from Pune. Its proximity to the city offers a respite from the harsh summer season. One of the fantastic treks and trails in the western ghats is located in the famous Tamhini ghat. Famous for many treks like Plus Valley, Devkund Waterfall, Bedsegaon Waterfall, Secret waterfall trek, Kolad river rafting, Milky Bar Waterfall, and the Kundalika Valley viewpoint.

Andharban Forest is located near Pimpri village, Maharashtra. It is around 75 kilometers from Pune. Ideal beginners' trek from Pune offers a beautiful jungle filled with wildlife, waterfalls, and views of the Bhira Dam.

The trail can be dangerous, too, if you venture without an Andharban trek guide, as the fog cover makes it difficult to navigate, and unpredictable weather can create flash floods around the waterfall crossing.

Trekking here requires permission from the Forest department. You will be surrounded by the howling sound of winds morning songs of the birds, and you can spot many orchid flowers, mushrooms, and Karvi flowers once in seven years; the fallen leaves from the lush foliage cover the trail—one of the most untouched forests where you can go for trekking from Pune. Andharban Dark Forest Trek has a unique route that doesn't get crowded on weekends and is popular with trekkers of Maharashtra.

The rainy season is the best time for Andharban Trek, and we will hike through the marked trail covered in verdant woodland and overflowing waterfalls. After reaching the trailhead, we conduct a quick introduction round and dos and don'ts for the jungle trail. Once we begin the hike, we will cross a few plateaus with amazing views of tall mountains on the right-hand side and a valley on the left. Soon we will enter the thick forest. Now you will be crossing many small streams and waterfall crossings.

On heavy rainfall days crossing these streams can become impossible. Following trek guide instructions is essential to maintain your safety. While trekking, you can now spot the Tamhini Ghat highway, Kundalika Valley, Plus Valley, Bhira Dam, and many waterfalls. You will get a mobile network to live with your friends and family. Carry a light backpack for this tracking with an excellent mobile cover to enjoy the hiking path and keep your gadget safe. You can spot many beautiful birds, such as Kingfishers, Asian paradise flycatchers, Falcons, Minivets, and Malabar whistling thrush.

You can spot many hunting traps laid out by the locals living inside the forest who occasionally hunt for wild boars, porcupines, and monitor lizards. The forest is covered with many wildflowers like Karvi, Sonki, Jambhali Chirayat, Konkan Pind, Nisurdi, Nilima, Piwala Terada, Kandil Kharchudi, Halunda, and many more.

We will relax and get refreshed at the various waterfalls along the trail. We will have a good time here, make many happy memories and enjoy the beautiful weather. Monsoon treks near Pune are famous for their waterfalls. The trails get covered in Fog and clouds regularly, reducing the visibility levels. Trekkers are instructed to inform the Andharban trek leader before moving ahead or exiting the track. Staying in sight is best for your safety, as getting lost in the forest is a real possibility.

The unique thing about the Andharban trek is that the trekking route is mostly a gradual descent or climb. It doesn't involve challenging ascents. The Andharban trek start point is 2100 feet, and the trail is well marked. Wearing good trekking shoes is compulsory on this trek as they offer excellent grip on rocky trails and river crossings. You can invest in Campus trekking shoes or CTR trekking shoes, which cost Rs 1200 and will last two years.

After reaching the Hirdi Plateau, we will take a small break for refreshment and begin our trek back to Andharban Trek starting point at Pimpri village. We will enjoy the same views on our return trek, around six kilometers. We will cross the three large waterfalls and enjoy the beautiful microclimate of the woodland.

On reaching the base village, we will change into dry clothes, enjoy our home-cooked lunch and begin our return journey to Pune. Andharban trek from Pune is one of the hidden gems of Maharashtra. It has become less popular now, and you can enjoy crowd-free trekking near Pune here.

The best time to visit Andharban Trek Pune is in the monsoon or rainy season, as the trail becomes alive with waterfalls, clouds, wildlife, and various streams. There are no waterfalls on the track during the winter season, and it gets hot and humid after the monsoon for trekking. Night trekking here will be challenging as the forest is filled with wildlife, and forest permissions will not be issued. Visiting the trek in summer will be challenging as the region is known for high temperatures in Maharashtra.
