

Overview

Bhairavgad Shirpunje Ganchakkar Trek

The Bhairavgad Shirpunje Fort Trek (1145m) is one of the best post-monsoon treks in Maharashtra, especially known as a hidden flower trek with meadows blooming after rains. Believed to be almost 2500 years old, this fort now has only a few ruins left on top. You'll find two large caves—one housing a shrine of Lord Bhairavnath and the other used as a residence in the past. Several ancient water tanks can still be seen. The beautifully carved and painted idol of Lord Bhairavnath is well maintained by local villagers, adding a spiritual touch to this adventurous climb.

History of Bhairavgad

The Bhairavgad Shirpunje Ghanchakkar Trek is an ancient fort trek in the Sahyadris, dating back thousands of years. Once a place of strategic importance, today only ruins remain, but the fort still tells stories of the past. On the top, you'll find two big caves—one dedicated to Lord Bhairavnath and the other once used for living. This offbeat trek takes you through lush green forests, offering a mix of nature, history, and adventure. Rock climbing routes have also been added, making it exciting for thrill seekers. From the fort, you can also spot nearby peaks like Ghanchakkar and Muda. Visiting Bhairavgad is like walking through history while enjoying stunning Sahyadri views.
